Changing the measure of quality in the NHS: from purchasing activity to Editorials 149 purchasing protocols Trevor A Sheldon, Michael Borowitz 151 Quality, the patient's charter, and primary care Clive W Parr Papers 152 Evaluating a policy of reduced consultant antenatal clinic visits for low risk multiparous women A M Hill, P L Yudkin, D J Bull, D H Barlow, F M Charnock, M D Gillmer Day surgery: development of a questionnaire for eliciting patients' experiences Nick Black, Colin Sanderson Day surgery: development of a national comparative audit service Nick Black, 162 Mark Petticrew, Duncan Hunter, Colin Sanderson Agreeing criteria for audit of the management of induced abortion: an 167 approach by national consensus survey Gillian C Penney, Anna Glasier, Allan Templeton Incompleteness and retrieval of case notes in a case note audit of colorectal lity improvement 170 cancer Neil Vickers, Allyson Pollock reports Audit of patients' awareness of ophthalmic diagnoses Sudha Sudesh, 175 Susan M Downes, Peter J McDonnell Special article 179 Purchasing for quality: still in the starting blocks? Mike Gill Review articles 183 Audit in general practice: where do we go from here? John Spencer 189 Medical audit: in need of evaluation Kieran Walshe, James Coles Audit and the team: an interview with the Adelaide Medical Centre team Interview 191 Richard Baker

ew from Scotland 204 Frank Sullivan, John Bain

Viewpoint 195 hasing for quality 198

206 Letters · Book reviews · Meetings reports · Comment · Diary · Quality quotes

Introducing new cost effective treatments into the NHS. Surfactant treatment for premature babies: who cares enough to pay? Henry L Halliday

Long term care for elderly people Shah Ebrahim, Christina Wallis,

Sarajane Brittis, Rowan Harwood, Nori Graham